To Whom It May Concern:

Our school purchased Alpine Purification Machines for most of our classrooms, including our portable classrooms, the library and the school offices. We were very excited about the difference the Alpine machines made in the school attendance of our students experiencing asthma and other bronchial problems. Many parents expressed appreciation and in some instances purchased the machines for home use.

Following a newspaper article in our local weekly paper, a concern from a citizen of the Cahaba River Environmental Association prompted a telephone call to the school principal regarding the environmental effects of the machines. This principal called the Jefferson County Health Department and requested a determination of this issue. A Health Department employee came to our school and did an informal assessment of the quality of the school air as a result of our using the Alpine Machines. He showed the principal the measurements as he performed them. It was determined that everything was in the proper health range. We received no further communication on this issue and have been quite satisfied with the results of using the machines and the service provided.

I highly recommend the Alpine Machines as a result of using them in my home and school for the past four years.

Sincerely,
