

Inflation is coming.

Some people were badly hurt by the recession. Inflation is dangerous, too; but this time you have a choice.

This is critical stuff. Don't take it lightly!

Are you ready for Inflation?

The biggest inflationary years associated with baby boom #1 were 1974 to 84. Jimmy Carter was elected in 1976. He didn't start the inflation but no one cares about that!

If inflation averages 10% for ten consecutive years the increase factor over the decade is 260%. A family making $40,000 in 1974 had to earn $104,000 in 1984 to stay even. Tax bracket creep (your tax rate goes up as you earn more) sucked another $10,000 from their gross. Their actual needs: $114,000.

Double digit inflation is a drastic and unpleasant thing. And yet it's all but inevitable! Tuck this prediction away and see if it really happens:

Whoever is elected in 2016 (either party) is destined to have a thankless one-term presidency because double digit inflation will probably be in full swing. Our educated guess is that high inflation will run from 2014 to 2024.

What can you do about this approaching problem?

What can retired people do? What can young people do?

In the seventies, millions of people gave network marketing a try. According to the Direct Selling Association, about 10 million people joined at least one multilevel marketing (MLM) company.

"Inflation actually helps network marketing. High inflation will be in our faces within two years after the recession ends. People who work smart and get in early can be in high cotton. You need a good company and a good system. We offer that..."

No one likes to see food, gasoline, rents, utilities, insurance, consumer goods and everything else going radically up. Homeowners like what inflation does for their property value. So the real estate market will recover. But even if the value of your home is going up by 15% per year, you still be paying through the nose for everything else. And your property taxes will go up.

Will employers give cost of living raises? Yes, but companies tend to lag one year behind the actual inflation and they never give enough. People start taking extra jobs, they look for better positions, more wives go to work...and, yes, they become far more open to multilevel marketing.

Our company is ideally positioned for these coming decades.
Start networking now so you can cash in big during the inflationary years.
Our systems will help you get ahead of the curve and stay ahead.
If things go well you'll get rich...
